

Dig safe this spring

April is National Safe Digging Month, making it the perfect reminder that every outdoor project should start with safety.

Liberty is committed to providing safe and reliable wastewater service to our customers. As a wastewater utility, we collect and transport wastewater from homes and businesses through an extensive network of underground sewer mains and service lines. Our crews regularly inspect, maintain, and upgrade this infrastructure to keep the system operating safely and effectively for the communities we serve.

Even routine digging can pose serious risks if underground sewer lines are damaged. Striking a buried wastewater line can cause sewage backups, environmental contamination, service disruptions, and costly repairs or fines. It can also impact neighboring properties and the surrounding community. Before starting any digging project, no matter how small, it's important to take the proper steps to identify and avoid underground utilities.

The good news? Putting safety first is simple.
